

PROBATE

Our approach to pricing

What is probate?

Probate is a term commonly used to describe the administration of a person's estate after they die. The word comes from 'Grant of Probate' which is the document issued by the Probate Registry confirming who is entitled to administer the estate. If a person dies without leaving a Will, the rules of 'intestacy' apply and rather than a Grant of Probate, letters of administration are issued to the next of kin specified by these rules.

We understand that for recently bereaved relatives and friends, the process of obtaining probate needs to be dealt with quickly and efficiently, and cause as little stress as possible.

What will affect the cost of our work?

No probate is exactly the same, and our fees will reflect your particular requirements and circumstances. Factors which may affect overall costs include the size of the estate, whether the deceased left a Will, if the Will is valid, the nature and value of the assets, if the beneficiaries/family/dependants agree the terms of the Will and whether Inheritance Tax is payable from the estate, the complexity and, therefore, the level of seniority required. We also take factors such as time constraints for the matter into consideration.

For example, dealing with an extensive estate where the deceased didn't leave a Will, would have a number of added complexities and cost more than dealing with a simple estate where the Will set out clearly how to deal with the deceased's assets.

These factors mean that we can't give you a reliable estimate of our fees until we have details of the probate itself.

What are our typical fees?

Our fees for dealing with probate start from £2,500 plus VAT. We would charge £2,500 plus VAT for a simple "Grant Only" application, i.e. obtaining the Grant of Probate on the Personal Representative's behalf. This would be on the basis that the Personal Representatives provide us with all of the probate valuations and information required to produce the necessary paperwork (the HM Revenue and Customs – HMRC Return (IHT205 only) and the Oath, which is prepared and sworn by the Personal Representatives to be submitted to the Probate Registry). To ensure the Personal Representatives provide all the necessary information, we will ask you to complete a questionnaire. We would then make the probate application on your behalf to the Probate Court.

To assist fully with an entire estate administration, our fees will depend on a number of factors, including family dynamics, the complexity of the assets held or the liabilities of the estate. Our fees are likely to be between 2% to 3% of the gross value of the estate plus VAT. This is, however, only an indication of the fees and may not be reflective of the simplicity or, conversely, the complexity of the estate, regardless of its gross value.

This is why we will always give you an individual cost estimate at the start of the transaction, taking into account the specific features of your instruction or 'matter'. If we identify unexpected complications, we will always inform you as soon as we can, and will discuss the potential consequences with you before any extra charges are incurred.

Please note that the figures quoted in this document do not include additional fees and costs that may apply for any conveyancing work needed for property or land in the estate, or for preparing and submitting any Income Tax returns which may be required in the course of the estate administration, or for advising on and preparing any declarations of trust relating to the estate or its assets.

Details of our pricing associated with residential conveyancing can be found HERE.

What is the basis of our charges?

The costs quoted here are based on our standard hourly rates for those individuals who work on these types of matters. Michelmores' standard hourly rates range from £115 to £695 (£138 to £834 including VAT) with different types and complexities of work being dealt with at different rates and levels of seniority. The rates for those working on your matter, and an indication of timescale and costs, will be confirmed if you decide to instruct us.

In addition to our fees for our time spent dealing with the matter, there may be additional costs that you have to pay, these are called disbursements. Disbursements are sums of money which we would pay out to third parties on your behalf in connection with your instruction. More details about disbursements are set out below.

VAT will also be charged on our fees and usually on disbursements.

We will be able to give you details of the costs which would be incurred for your matter, and which individuals would work on your matter, if you decide to instruct us.

Timescales

The timetable for dealing with a probate will depend on the nature and complexity of the estate. An indication of likely timescales is below.

ACTION	LIKELY TIMESCALE
Simple Grant of Probate (or letters of administration where the deceased didn't leave a (valid) Will)	Approximately 1-2 months to obtain Grant of Probate
Full Administration: simple estate	Approximately 1-3 months to obtain Grant of Probate
Full Administration: moderately complex estate	Approximately 2-4 months to obtain Grant of Probate
Full Administration: complex estate	Approximately 4-6 months to obtain Grant of Probate
Collecting in the assets which make up the estate	Approximately one month after Grant of Probate
Interim distributions (in the event that there are no complexities)	Approximately 2-3 weeks after collecting in all the assets
Dealing with any administration period income tax returns	Approximately 1-2 months after collecting in all the assets
Circulating Estate Accounts and dealing with final distributions	Approximately one month after all tax clearances have been given by HMRC (Inheritance Tax and administration period Income Tax)

For moderately complex estates it may take up to 12 to 18 months for the administration to be fully concluded, even though it is usually possible for the majority of the estate to be distributed before then, depending on the circumstances and the nature of the assets within the estate.

Examples of matters which may arise which can lead to delays in the process and further costs being incurred include:

- The Will is not valid or is contested
- A claim is brought against the estate by someone who alleges that the Will failed to make reasonable financial provision for them
- A property within the estate takes longer to sell than anticipated, or does not sell
- HM Revenue & Customs makes enquiries in relation to any of the returns submitted in relation to the estate
- The estate is not wholly based in the UK
- The estate is insolvent or partially insolvent
- There is a significant number of people who are entitled to receive a distribution from the estate.

There may be additional costs that you have to pay, which are disbursements. Disbursements are sums of money which we would pay out to third parties on your behalf in connection with your instruction.

VAT will also be charged on our fees and usually on disbursements.

What other costs may be incurred?

Our fees do not include any external costs and charges that we may incur as part of the administration (e.g. tax, penalties, repayable benefits, fees and charges). These are disbursements.

There will be a number of additional costs that will need to be paid as part of the process; these come under the category of disbursements mentioned above and examples of these are set out below.

Inheritance Tax will be payable for certain estates, depending on their value. Details of the current rates for Inheritance Tax are available at <https://www.gov.uk/inheritance-tax>.

The estate will be responsible for these items and we will notify you should these costs be incurred.

Is VAT payable?

VAT is charged at the prevailing rate (which is currently 20%) on all our fees, and many of the disbursements which we may incur on your behalf.
